GIFT: Get Inspired by Future Tech | ITW

Wednesday 26 June 2019
from 6 PM to 9 PM
at OGR
22 Corso Castelfidardo, Torino

Torino, June 26, 2019
By I3P

GIFT is an event dedicated to the culture of innovative entrepreneurship and is aimed primarily at university and PhD students.

During this event 5 successful startup teams, originating from academic research, will present their company's technological reference and relevant future scenarios. The entrepreneurs will present their company business models and tell their story of personal entrepreneurial growth: the motivation, challenges, difficulties, ambition and the satisfactions.

The aim of this presentation is to show the impact that scientific research has on the innovation process in different sectors. Local startups are invited with the intent of having them share how successful hi-tech entrepreneurial paths, emerge in specific innovative ecosystems.

SPEAKERS

- Lorenzo Feruglio of Aiko
- Paola Allamano from Waterview
- Alessandro Vetrano of Ermes Cyber Security
- Jacopo Secco of Omnidermal
- Fabrizio Fantini from Evo

STARTUP EVO

PARTICIPATION

The event is free, but to participate you need to register through the following steps. We would like to clarify that both steps are necessary to ensure a place in the audience for the I3P event.

SIGN UP NOW - HOW TO DO IT

1. Sign up for Eventbrite here
2. Sign up for the event and put it on the calendar here

The presentations of the startups will be accompanied by moments of interaction with the public of students and young researchers. During the event, initiatives will be promoted for entrepreneurial education and the Piedmont Valle d'Aosta Start Cup competition, which in 2019 has a section dedicated to teams of university students only. There will be an idea-corner for the collection of student contacts and subsequent engagement activities on projects of the Politecnico di Torino and I3P.

The event will end with a networking aperitif.
